

Morrows Online Update

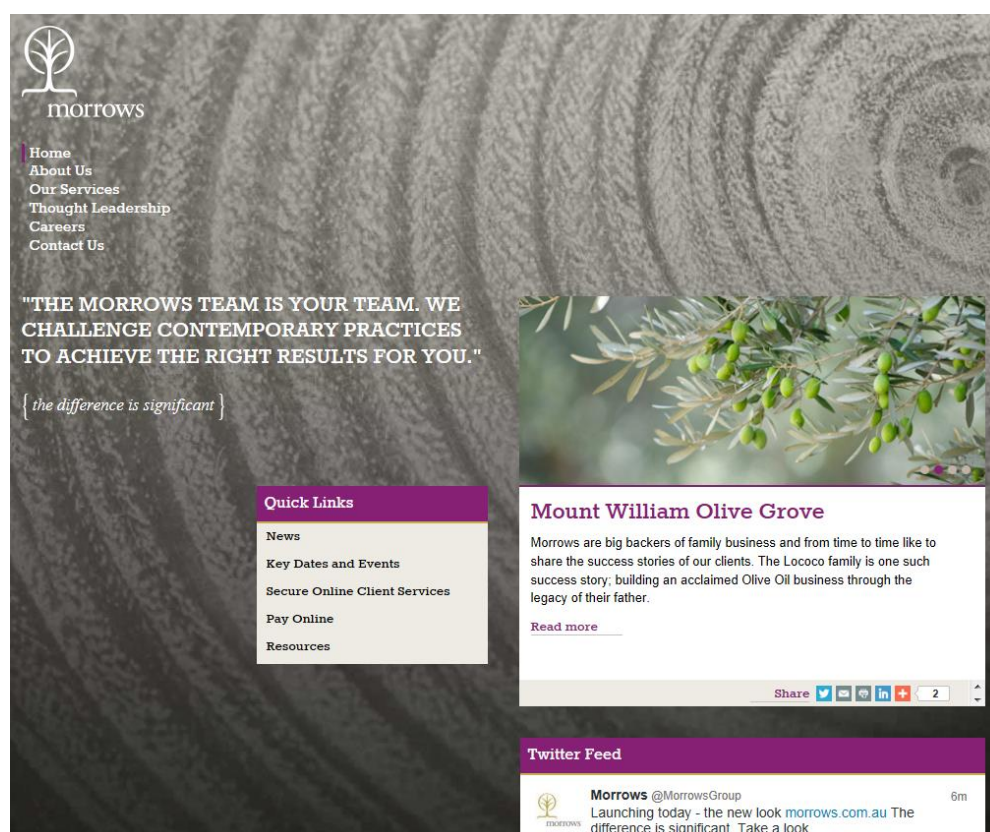

New Website Now Live

Morrows is proud to announce that since 21 May, our new and improved company website has been live.

The new website has been under discussion and construction for many months. We kept our focus on our goal of providing our clients with a new experience that supported our philosophy of "the difference is significant" and believe we have achieved an outstanding result.

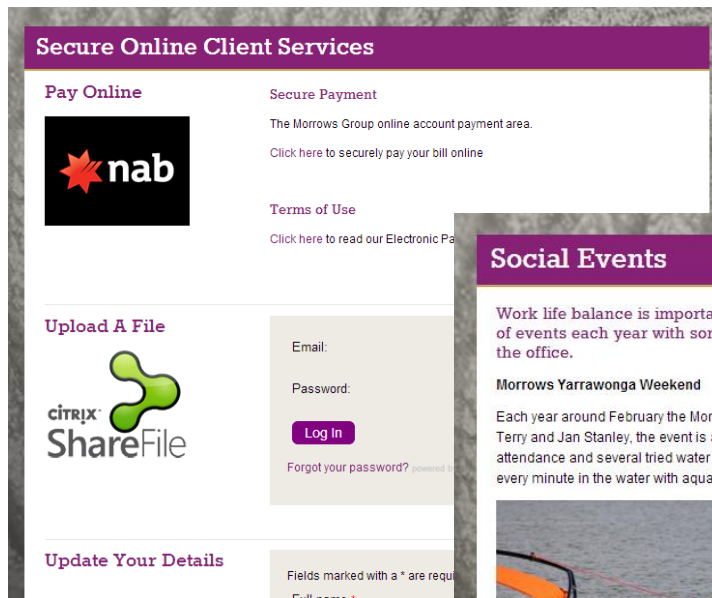

Importantly, our logo and artwork continues to use our established brands of the tree and leaves but in a refreshed design that is significantly different to the majority of financial services providers in the market.

Our new home page at the same web address:
www.morrows.com.au

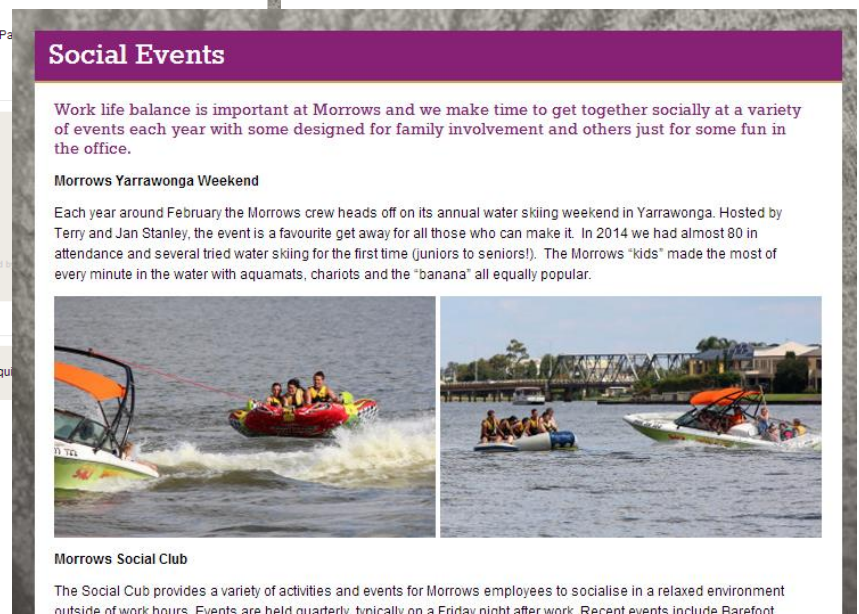

The new site is easily viewed at the same web address: www.morrows.com.au so there is no need to update your favourites although we suggest you update your browsing history to save any glitches.

On 21 May we distributed information to all our clients for whom we hold an email address regarding the launch and our refreshed Secure Client Document Storage service – Sharefile. It is highly secure and used by many large corporates globally for data storage. If you have used Morrows secure client area service in the past your documents have already been uploaded and you will soon receive an email from Sharefile regarding your new access details. If you have any concerns, please contact Morrows as soon as possible.

If you have not used this secure service before we encourage you to talk to us and we will arrange for you to be signed up to Sharefile which is provided for free to any Morrows client.

In conjunction with the refreshed site we have also commenced the creation of a Morrows social media presence via LinkedIn and Twitter.

We will be more proactive with content in future and the best way to get our updates asap will be to follow those channels. If you participate in these social media sites, please add Morrows to your list of interests.

The site has been a longstanding project and required the involvement of a large number of Morrows people, associates and clients. We sincerely thank everyone involved for their time and input.

Please provide your feedback and comments to us about the new site. We look forward to adding information and services that meet your needs.
